Who the heck is Paul?

Paul focuses on people, mobility, portrait, and landscape images. His style is characterized by natural, powerful colors and reduced imagery, where graphical elements synergize with organic forms.

Paul has been a full-time photographer and filmmaker for a few years. He was born and raised in Bremen and studied photography at the University of Applied Sciences and Arts in Dortmund. After that, he moved to Hamburg, where he assisted various renowned photographers.

Despite his frequent travels, Paul continues to call Hamburg his home. He is passionate about exploring new countries and meeting fascinating and extraordinary people from all over the world.

Paul is available for both local and international projects, and he invites you to contact him to discuss your project further.
